

Cynthia Fletcher

Cynthia Simmons Fletcher has not one but two degrees from TCC. The first, in Nursing, launched her into the psychiatric and emergency trauma units at Tallahassee Memorial. After being pulled as a witness into several lawsuits, she concluded that the legal profession knew little of what went on in the trenches of a hospital and returned to TCC for her Associate in Arts in route to law school.

Today Cynthia practices at Pennington, Moore, Wilkinson, Bell and Dunbar, specializing in medical malpractice and health law. In 2004, she was appointed to the Governor's Workgroup on Mammography Accessibility for the State of Florida. Cynthia maintains her nursing license via continuing education. She and her husband Charlie and their one son live in Orlando, FL. She belongs to First Presbyterian Church and the Junior League of Orlando.