

CLASS OF 2021

Bill Oliver

Bill Oliver started in the construction industry as a trim carpenter and has since served clients in a number of capacities, including superintendent, project manager and sales associate. His knowledge of the process and attention to detail gives clients great confidence in his judgments throughout the project. As president, Bill is responsible for overseeing all aspects of the job from estimating to sales to completion.

Bill graduated from Godby high School and never forgot his Godby roots. He worked with the Godby Alumni Association to established their Legacy Scholarship at TCC. He and his business partner, Todd Sperry (also a Godby alum), dedicated the Legacy Scholarship to Godby graduates entering TCC. During the College's 50th Anniversary Campaign, his company OliverSperry Renovation was the first to create a scholarship specifically for students in the building/construction program.

During his 35 years of construction management experience, he has led the construction of many K-12 and University projects in North Florida as well as numerous other commercial Construction Management projects including offices, retail, industrial, multi-family housing and financial institutions throughout Florida. As an active community leader, Bill has served on the Board of Habitat for Humanity and is currently on the Tallahassee Advisory Board.

He is passionate about TCC for numerous reasons. He met his wife Kim when he was 20, and when they moved to Tallahassee, they both enrolled in TCC classes. It was difficult for him to support himself and his family at the time and at such a young age. He stayed for a few years but didn't achieve a degree, and says that if there were scholarships at the time he would have been encouraged to complete schooling. That's why he is now so adamant about supporting others like him, through donations for scholarships through TCC and hiring TCC students.
